The rain let up a little in the sixth inning and the Naps started a little shower of their own, it consisting of base hits off Mr Vaughn. When the shower ceased five Naps had pattered across the pan. They got their sixth in the next inning. Gregg some, but not enough to prevent the Highlanders scoring two runs.

The Highlanders made a run in the second inning. Cree walked and stole. When Cree dashed for third, Knight being retired at first. A sharp single to left by Chase scored Cree. The Highlanders rested until the fifth inning, when Chase made his second single. Sharp fielding on the part of the Stovallites retired the side. Blair led off in the sixth by being hit. Vaughn sacrificed him to second and he scored on Daniels's long drive to left. Wolter grounded to regg. The New Yorks didn't see first base again until the eighth inning. Magner lifted a low one to left, Butcher making a great run and catch. Blair then slammed the sphere to right field and the Chase aggregation settled down for some more runs. Yaughn, however, hit into a dourie play.

The Naps went hitless until the third. Turner walked and got to second on Fisher's rap to left. Gregg fanned and Turner took third on Butcher's grounder to Chase. Olsen also fanned. The Stovall outfit got another hit in the fifth, but it was the sixth when they made trouble for Vaughn. Butcher led off with a single. He stole and took third on Olsen's single. Jackson was there with a timely swat, sending the ball along the third base line and scoring Butcher. When Cree fumbled the ball Olsen scored and when Knight juggled the return throw Jackson hoofed to third. He scored on Stovall's grounder to Magner. Birmingham beat a slow infield grounder and stole. Ball walked and both scored on Turner's double to the right field fence. Turner stole third, but failed to score, as Fisher and Gregg fanned.

A base on balls, a single to centre and Wolter's fumble of the ball scored Olsen in the seventh. The Naps made two hits in the eighth after one was down. Two grounders retired the side with men on second and third.

Veteran Turfman to Breed and Race Exclusively in Europe—Heavy Expenses Equalled More Than $5,000,000 Won b) His Horses Here Is Discouraged.

Has James R. Keene decided to sell his amous breeding establishment, Castleton Stud, thereby abandoning the American turf forever? Mr. Keene, who has been very ill in Europe, recently sold his entire lot of yearlings, fifty-seven in all, to Harry Payne Whitney for $45,000, and now comes the widely circulated rumor that the veteran turfman will pay no further attention to the thoroughbred industry in this country. Mr. Keene, it is said, prefers to breed and race horses in England or France, where there are no restrictions on the sport of kings and where stakes and purses are worth something. The vice-chairman of the lockey Club has won more than $5,000,000 with his great stake horses on the American turf, but he has conducted his stable and breeding farm on such expensive lines that the books do not show a profit. financial break is said to be the result of his turf ventures here, but with racing in future practically killed Mr. Keene is said to have realized that a continuance of the
